

Tuesday June 12, 2018 - LUNCHEON MEETING NOTICE

The Los Angeles CPCU Society Chapter Officers and Directors invite you to join us for a presentation by Ms. Tessa Lucero, Vice President – Marsh Risk & Insurance Services

Tempest in a Teapot:
Applying the Marine Open Cargo Policy to a Well Known Claim

A cold, dark night in a busy New England port. Three ships, carrying cargo valued today at a total of about $3,000,000, lie at anchor alongside the dock. A group of people force their way aboard the ships, commandeer the cargo, and destroy it.

Will the cargo owner's insurance policy cover this loss?

We will review the facts of the case and apply a present-day ocean cargo policy to the event to determine whether or not the policy would pay out, and if so, to what extent. Learn more about modern ocean cargo insurance and how it would apply to a particular scenario.
